

Googins & Anton

Investment Advisors

Newsletter – February 2011

Dear Clients and Friends,

For the last few years, we have used a software program, Investigo, to consolidate your year-end account values from various custodians. The consolidated statements are normally sent out as of 6/30 and 12/31. This year Investigo has run into several problems, and thus delayed the date when year-end reports will be available. The problem is a matter of format on the page, not a matter of providing the correct numbers. Ahhh, the modern age of communication... Depending on when this problem is corrected, we may send you a 12/31/10 consolidated statement, or simply provide one when we meet during the year.

We remind you that many custodians receive extensions for mailing out 1099s, so 1/31/11 is frequently not the final date for receiving those forms. Additionally, it is not uncommon for amended tax forms to be mailed out later in the tax season. Many of you are anxious to complete your 2010 income tax forms, but you may save yourself from future annoyances by delaying filing.

2010 is behind us and the indexes did well.

- DJIA 30 (stocks) was up..... 14.06%
- S&P 500 (stocks) was up..... 15.06%
- Wilshire 5000 (stocks) was up.... 17.16%

Here is an easy prediction to make; there will be plenty of events and concerns to worry about in 2011. But through them all, the economy seems stronger and is slowly improving. We like the economists who predict a positive return for stocks in 2011.

For short investment topics, please check out our blog at <http://googinsandanton.blogspot.com/>.

Sincerely yours,

Louise, Tracey, Brenda, Michael